

A Sorority of Sisters Who Love Tea

Ripe Puerh from Teaspec.

Posted on June 20, 2017 by CuppaGeek

Puerh is one of those varieties of tea that intimidates me. In the past, I've had these teas go horribly wrong me and those situation just stick in my head when I go to think about trying to drink puerh again. I will admit it. I recently purchased a good variety of puerh from a well renowned and adored company yet a good chunk of that order is still untouched. I just find myself grabbing my beloved green or white teas.

Well today I broke out of my tea safety zone and tried a ripe puerh from Teaspec. I also tried their raw puerh but that will be for another day.

Prepped my water, and brewed the tea. I have to say, I instantly fell in love with the earthy aromas that were omitting from my tea cup. I was hoping those tones would translate into a rich robust brew with earthy notes and that is exactly what happened. This tea was full of an earthy undertone with a full bodied feel. I will be honest and say that I totally winged the brewing and steeping parameters which may have caused an abundance of that earthy flavor but never the less, I drank my cuppa done and starting prepping the water for a second cup.

This may not be a tea that I would drink everyday but I love the rich earthy tones that just do not disappoint sip after glorious sip.

I may not have brewed the tea exactly correct, but I loved the flavor that I was able to produce. I have to say, my first experience with Teaspec's Ripe Puerh and I may have just dabbled my toe into a new tea adventure.

Anybody have any good suggestions and/or advice for a puerh newbie?

Here's the scoop!

Leaf Type: Puerh

Where to Buy: Teaspec

Description

Our ripe Pu'er loose tea, Ripe Marvel, has a mildly aromatic taste with a more mellow, full-bodied flavour, and is made from extremely high-quality tea leaves. Each 50g (1.76 oz) comes packaged in a clear pouch inside our custom colored magenta canister and decorative box.

Learn even more about this tea and tea company here!

About Latest Posts

CuppaGeek

I am a late 30s something mom who loves her family, will be getting married to a wonderful guy and has 4 kids (2 mine-2 his).We have a beautiful life together and I wouldn't change a thing.

Follow Me

Tea is a passion that quickly turned into an obsession, very similar to my love for polka dots, the horror genre, and anything that is geeky and fun.I drink all kinds of tea and will try a tea twice to make sure I didn't bumble the first infusion.

Besides SororiTea Sisters, I'm also the blogger and genius (I use that word very loosely) behind CuppaGeek, where I review tea, books, and the horror genre.

WHAT'S IN OUR CUPPA TODAY!

Follow Us

JOIN IN ON THE FUN! #365DAYSOFTEA

FRESHLY STEEPED

Organic Plum Oolong from Arbor Teas

Georgia Peach from Tiny Bubbles Tea Bar

Chocolate Rose Truffle Black Tea from 52Teas

Awake from Bird's Eye Tea. . . .

Berry Berry Herbal Tea from Culinary Teas

English Peppermint from Tiger Spring Tea

Rara Willow White Tea from Nepali Tea Traders

Snow Day from DAVIDsTEA

Malawi White Peony from Butiki Teas

Rose Mojito White Tea Blend from The Persimmon Tree